

Emory College
Department of Music

McDowell Lectures in Music

Spring 2008

Established in 2007-2008 in memory of Emory alumnus Michael A. McDowell, Jr. (1932C), the McDowell Lectures in Music is a forum for discussing interdisciplinary topics in music with guest scholars and composers.

Philip V. Bohlman

Mary Werkman Distinguished Service Professor of the Humanities and of Music at the University of Chicago

Tuesday, February 5, 4:00-5:15PM
White Hall 207

“Johann Gottfried Herder’s Sounding of an Epic Europe”

Wednesday, February 6, Noon-1:00PM
Carlos Museum Reception Hall
“The Silence of Transcendence”

Wednesday, February 6, 1:00-2:00PM
Carlos Museum Reception Hall
Performance with Christine Wilkie Bohlman, piano
Victor Ullmann and Rainer Maria Rilke’s
“The Chronicle of Love-Death of the Flag-Bearer Christoph Rilke”

Susan McClary

Professor of Musicology at the University of California-Los Angeles

Tuesday, March 25, 4:00-5:15PM
White Hall 207

“Soprano as Fetish: On the Rise of Professional Singers”

Wednesday, March 26, 12:00-1:30PM
ILA Seminar Room, Callaway South 423
Colloquium Presentation

For information, please call the
Department of Music at 404-727-6445